

VACANCY, CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY

On behalf of Marc Tischkowitz we would like to share the following vacancy at Cambridge University:

Cambridge University just had approval for 2 University Lecturer posts <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/25196/>

These posts are very prestigious. They are essentially tenured faculty position (there is a 5 year “probation” period but the probation process is more of a formality, certainly nothing like going through tenure), postholders will be only 2 promotions away from full Prof, and this may soon be changing to 1 promotion.

The posts have a 50/50 clinical/research split and the postholder would have an Attending Physician position in the clinical service.

Both posts could be cancer, or one cancer/one non-cancer.

Cambridge is a Brexit-free zone, one of the most pro-Remain areas of the UK, so this should not be too much of a concern!
